A message from Kitty Wallace

Chair of the Charity
Event Committee

My husband Ben and I have been members of Royal West Norfolk Golf Club for almost 20 years. In 1993 our second son, Hewie, was born with cerebral palsy and in 2017 he became a proud tenant of his own flat in Hawthorn House, part of Thornage Hall Independent Living. Hewie lives there, works there and continues to learn new skills every day.

We are delighted with the opportunities now afforded to our son and would like to thank all supporters on behalf of those who live, learn and work there.

Thornage Hall Independent Living

Living, learning and working opportunities for adults with learning disabilities thornagehall.co.uk

Based in the heart of North Norfolk, just five minutes drive from Holt, the charity provides supported living for 27 adults, each of whom hold individual tenancies. Support is on hand to ensure that they can live as independently as possible and that they can pursue working and learning activities of their choosing. A further 30 adults also travel to the site each week to take part in these activities. A 70 acre biodynamic farm and garden provide real working environments, as do workshops in baking, weaving, woodwork, IT, arts, crafts and music.

As part of their 30th year celebrations the charity has launched a £1m appeal to build Orchard Lodge, four fully accessible accommodation units with en suite bathrooms, a shared kitchen, dining, and living room facilities. In addition there will be sleep in accommodation to provide 24/7 care for the tenants as required.

Build costs are estimated at £1,000,000 and trustees expect to set aside a reserve fund in the region of £200,000 subject to reconciliation of our 2018-2019 accounts. All funds raised through the 2020 Royal West Norfolk Golf Club dinner and golf day will go towards the development of this important facility.

“Adults with learning disabilities are living longer, which means that Thornage Hall must adapt to meet their needs. The development of Orchard Lodge is a vital next step for our charity, ensuring that we can continue to support our tenants into older life”.

Angie Steggles,
Chief Executive, Thornage Hall
Independent Living.
